

CALL FOR APPLICATION FOR A RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP

Refª PRR-C05-i03-I-000200_BI_1

Portuguese version

A call for tenders is now open for the attribution of one Research Scholarship within the scope of the Project “OakFood - Integrated valorization of acorns as a Portuguese raw material for differentiated food products”, co-financed by the Recovery and Resilience Plan - PRR-C05-i03-I-000200, under the following conditions, set out below.

Scientific area: Biotechnology

Admission requirements: Candidates for the Research scholarship must have a master's degree in Biochemistry or related areas, as well as proficiency in the English language. They must also have extensive research experience with a relevant focus in the area of valorization of plant by-products, extraction and characterization of bioactive compounds and development of added value products. Experience in research projects and evidence from international scientific publications will be considered preferred factors.

Candidates for the Research scholarship must also be enrolled or commit to enrolling in a course that does not lead to an academic degree that promotes the consolidation of their scientific training.

Work Plan:

The activity to be developed by the scholarship holder is part of a research project whose main objective is the development of an integrated strategy for the viability of acorns as a raw material for the creation of value-added products, as alternative sustainable solutions for the food industry. The main tasks included in this work plan are obtaining starch and complementary ingredients from acorns, and establishing their characterization in order to incorporate them into innovative compound foods. This scholarship holder must continue the developments started, as well as support the development and optimization of methodologies and the dissemination of the project.
